› BAD REQUINS

BAD SHARKS

After its huge international success, Jaws has continuously inspired – sometimes for better and often for worse – producers who are keen to take advantage of the global appetite for aquatic monsters, giving birth to a subgenre of cinema that is still viable today: "sharksploitation." From Deep Blue Sea (1999) to Sharknado (2013), not to mention Bacalhau (1975) or Snow Shark (2014), this richly illustrated book offers the first comprehensive look at the sharksploitation phenomenon.

JAPAN: A SILENT JOURNEY

Contemplate, wander, trace, appear, haunt... Through 5 chapters and more than 180 images, this book traces the contours of a sensitive geography of Japan: the impermanence of things (wabi-sabi), the hidden beauty of the world (yūgen), the half-light which reveals as much as it hides, or the memory of ancient tales. A book designed like a lover's dictionary in which each image and text invites readers to the heart of the Japanese soul.

CHARLOTTE MOLAS

50 articles that encourage a heightened sense of sexuality, free from old feelings of guilt.

› LE SEXE SELON MAÏA

SEX ACCORDING TO MAÏA

Since 2015, Maïa Mazurette has been the author of a column for Le Monde entitled "Sex According to Maïa." In this column, which is among the publication's most read and most commented, Maïa analyzes our image of the body, our sexual practices, and our mental representations or fantasies. An approach that is particularly relevant in the #metoo era, where the notions of sex and gender, consent and pleasure, and risk and seduction are in full debate. The underlying theme? Sex should bring us together, not tear us apart.

By combining art, design, innovation, and environmental responsibility, sustainable designers are working towards a better future.

› 75 DESIGNERS POUR UN MONDE DURABLE

SUSTAINABLE DESIGN

Given the urgency of climate change, some designers have decided to react by taking sustainability into account when designing products. This book highlights the commitment, the imagination, and the humanism of some of these "sustainable" designers, from Philippe Starck to Jasper Morrison. At the convergence of the arts, design, innovation, and environmental responsibility, all of them work for a better future, following in the footsteps of icons such as William Morris and Victor Papanek.
