SILÈNE EDGAR

A remarkable young heroine becomes an adult as she struggles to ascend the highest mountain in the world.

8 848 MÈTRES :
LÀ-HAUT, ELLE NE SERA PLUS LA MÊME

8,848 METERS SHE'LL NEVER BE THE SAME

15-year-old Mallory is the youngest Frenchwoman ever to have reached the summit of a mountain higher than 8,000 metres above sea level. The challenge she has now given herself is to climb to the top of Everest. The lack of oxygen, the physical effort required, and the extreme weather conditions on the mountain do not faze Mallory, because she will be climbing with her father; her pillar, her role model. But this learning experience will also help her to grow. This unique endeavor will force Mallory to open her eyes to the world around her — the pollution caused by mountain climbers, the melting of the ice caps, the potentially fatal strain that the climb places on Mallory's body, Buddhist teachings, and especially, the importance of the message that she, a young girl on the verge of adulthood, will take back to her homeland.
