› UNE STREET HISTOIRE DE L'ART :
50 ANS D'ART URBAIN RÉVÈLENT
5 000 ANS D'HISTOIRE DE L'ART

A STREET HISTORY OF ART

50 YEARS OF URBAN ART REVEAL
5,000 YEARS OF ART HISTORY

Based on a selection of works by some of the most emblematic artists on the contemporary urban art scene, the aim of this book is to show how their works draw on the history of art, each era having exerted a direct influence on urban art. Aside from the continuity of subjects over the centuries, it explains formal codes and artistic techniques to reveal how street artists assimilate and transcend them.

› TRAINS DE NUIT :
30 TRAJETS INOUBLIABLES EN EUROPE

NIGHT TRAINS

30 UNFORGETTABLE
GETAWAYS IN EUROPE

Traveling via night trains is always an adventure. Does the vacation start the day of departure, or the day of arrival? Time in a night train is like that of dreams. The night train is an ode to slow speeds: to avoid awakening the passengers, the train moves slowly, gently rocking the sleepers with progressive accelerations and long brakes. And yet, we never sleep too soundly in a night train, probably so as not to deprive ourselves of the sensation of traveling and because a surprise awaits whenever we wake up.

BRICE PORTOLANO

From the wild archipelagos of Alaska to Lapland's snowy forests, photographer Brice Portolano has met people who have chosen to live closer to nature.

› NO SIGNAL :
VIVRE AU PLUS PRÈS DE LA NATURE

NO SIGNAL LIVING CLOSER TO NATURE

Although they have not turned their backs on modernity or cut themselves off completely, they question the values and a way of life that no longer feels relevant to them. They live a simpler life, sometimes without running water or electricity, often far from towns or cities and without cell coverage, in sharp contrast to their former lives where continuous access to the Internet and supermarkets was the norm.

NICOLAS MALAIS
SOPHIE PUJAS

80 excerpts from authors' and artists' journals exploring their hearts and souls in everyday life, with an exclusive interview with Annie Ernaux.

› JOURNAUX INTIMES : LES MOTS DE LA VIE

PRIVATE JOURNALS THE WORDS OF LIFE

These carefully selected facsimiles tell us about life, whether it is great or ordinary, and give us an intimate look at the lives of great authors and artists. Benjamin Constant feeling unable to break up, Marie Curie saying farewell to the love of her life, George Orwell cultivating his garden, Victor Klemperer bearing witness to the beginning of Nazi barbarism, Cesare Pavese struggling with suicidal thoughts...
