ÉMILIE CHAZERAND

The story of Annie, a very special and unforgettable heroine, and those close to her, including her sister Velma and brother Harold.

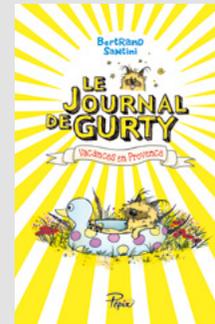

› ANNIE AU MILIEU

ANNIE IN THE MIDDLE

Harold and Velma are Annie's brother and sister. Annie is "different." She has an extra chromosome. Plus lots of kindness, imagination, and love. She has a job, friends, and a great passion: the majorettes. Annie is excited because this year, her team will be marching in the city's parade. But the coach doesn't want her there: she's not good enough, she's chubby... she's "different." Fine! Annie will march with her own team, a bit hopeless, but certainly flamboyant. Her slightly kooky majorettes. Her kookettes!

GURTY'S DIARY SUMMER IN PROVENCE

"My name is Gurty. (When I was little, I thought my name was "Stop it", but it isn't.) Today is the first day of our holidays. Gaspard and I took a train – Gaspard is my human. He is kind, playful, loyal, and very clean! When we got to our cottage in Provence, I was so excited that I started jumping up and down, like when I have worms. The hallway smelled of fennel, the living room smelled of thyme, the kitchen smelled of sausage, and my basket smelled of dog. Let the adventure and fun begin!"

This is the story of a child who wants to be bored, just to see how it feels. He starts by looking out of the window at the empty courtyard and gray roofs... then he begins to draw in the condensation of the window glass! It's no use; this is too much fun! So he lies on the sofa and stares at the ceiling... Soon he is joined by Max the cat and Irma the mouse... and they start to tickle each other! Foiled again! So his friends decide to go to the neighbor's house. The child is alone... and he's really bored this time!
