EN GARDE!

Once upon a time, there lived an army in a remote forest. The big castle in which the soldiers lived had never been attacked, so no one really cared about protecting it. Except for one girl knight, who was always ready in the event of an attack. Tired of always hanging out, she decided to train her troops to become better at relaxing. But one day, the castle was attacked, and the knight led her lazy army to victory through an absurd fight, filled with sun chairs and hammocks instead of swords!
