Amaterra

Amaterra is a publishing house based in Lyon, France. We have a strong graphic sensibility and are committed to producing high-quality content. Each year we publish an average of 20 books for children. We strive to create books that will surprise young readers and develop their curiosity, whether by exploring technical possibilities of paper (die cuts, pop-ups, flaps, moving parts, special inks, etc.), or simply by presenting themes from a different angle. Fun and discovery have to be part of every project. We are proud that our books have been translated into many languages around the world.

Children's Books

LAURE MONLOUBOU

A story about strength, courage, and the complementarity of differences.

› OLGA ET LE CRI DE LA FORÊT

OLGA AND THE FOREST'S CRY

Olga is 8 years old. She has already moved six times. The last move led her to a quirky house, flanked by multiple turrets. When she begins to tear off the wallpaper of her new room in order to freshen it up, she discovers a very small locked door. On the other side, someone is trying to communicate. Who could it be? Then another mystery arises: nobody has seen or heard from Olga's parents ever since they went for a walk in the nearby woods.

Children's Books

MAGALI ATTIOGBÉ

An early learning board book with openwork.

› L'OURS

THE BEAR

Toddlers discover the bear while having fun:
I am brown, chubby, and all hairy.
I am a bear.
I sleep a lot.
Grrr... Somebody woke me up...
I'm going to look for some food.
