CHILDREN OF THE LEGEND

In the far reaches of a shaken Europe, while revolution grumbles, 5 youngsters are brought together by a strange threat. From Vienna to Odessa, from Kiev to the plains of Siberia, they are chased by the secret police and tracked by a cruel and tyrannical Ataman. Bound by friendship and a fate they don't understand, they make their way to a lost kingdom... Maldoror. The first book in an enchanting trilogy, Maldoror is a great adventure tale with hints of the fantastic played to the rhythm of Slavic music.

MARIE BONAPARTE- SIGMUND FREUD- UNPUBLISHED CORRESPONDENCE

In 1925, Marie Bonaparte meets Freud. Over the course of 14 years, they would exchange over 1,000 letters. Never-before-published, this lively and abundant correspondence provides crucial information on the introduction of psychoanalysis in France, initiated by Marie Bonaparte, as well as Freud's relationship with his patient. Very quickly, their relationship evolves, and the student becomes a confidant, and the master a friend. Critical approach by Rémy Amouroux.

THE EARTH IN OUR HANDS

MISSION ALPHA: 200 DAYS
IN SPACE AND 300 VIEWS
OF PLANET EARTH

Seas, rivers, islands, deserts, mountains, cities... From every angle during his second mission on the International Space Station, highlighting Earth's fragility and the absolute necessity of protecting it, the astronaut Thomas Pesquet photographed our planet from every angle from the International Space Station. These spectacular and fascinating photos, brought together for the first time in book format, make us understand Earth's fragility and the absolute necessity of protecting it. A vibrant homage to nature. A plea for a collective awareness in the face of climate. Royalties donated to charity. Rights already sold in five languages.
