ALAIN DUCASSE

For the first time ever, the world-famous chef Alain Ducasse speaks in his own words about his life, his career, and his vision for the future of gastronomy.

› UNE VIE DE GOÛTS ET DE PASSIONS

A LIFE OF TASTE AND PASSION

In this intimate portrait, the world-famous chef Alain Ducasse tells his own story for the first time. In this book, he describes his modest upbringing in the French countryside, his grandmother who taught him how to cook using vegetables from her garden, his first job as a teenager at a restaurant for truckdrivers... But also his glittering international career (which has seen him open restaurants in Europe, North America, and Asia) and his visions for the future of gastronomy.

Literature and Fiction

MODY

The novel featured in the Netflix series of the same name, which retraces the love story of a serial-killing couple operating in France in the 1970s.

› LES PAPILLONS NOIRS

BLACK BUTTERFLIES

This is the passionate and depraved love story of Albert and Solange, two hairdressers who grow up together in the post-WWII years in France and go on to become a serial-killing couple operating in the 1970s. The book is featured in the hit Netflix series of the same name, but can also be read entirely independently. A sexy, dark, French version of Bonnie and Clyde, with feminist undertones, and a perfect example of a noir novel.

WE WERE WOLVES

Liam is a hunter and fisherman who lives in a wild and inhospitable nature with his wife Ava and their 5-year-old son Aru. When he returns from a hunting trip to find Ava dead, killed by a bear, he finds himself alone with Aru for the first time. His immediate reaction is to try to leave Aru with family members in town, but they refuse to take him. Thus begins a journey on horseback that will change both of their lives.
